

Salesian Facilitates Rapport

Salesian College, having its base in the preventive system of education of Don Bosco welcomes the new students with a Two- Day Rapport Building Program on 1st and 2nd July, 2016. The programs focussed on building trust, love and respect among the newly joined students and the Faculty members of the Salesian College, Siliguri campus, which consequently will help to create an open atmosphere and bridge the teacher-student gap in the days ahead. The program enhanced motivation, inspiration, communication and chiefly – mutual trust.

On the first day, the program started at 7 in the morning, for the Commerce and Management departments, with a common assembly. Vice Principal Fr. Dr. C.J. George introduced the Program with the students. Thereafter, Vice Principal Fr. Aju Kurian spoke to the newcomers. This was followed by a common interaction by the faculty members of respective department with the students, after which the Principal Fr. (Prof.) George Thadathil concluded the day by showing the documentary – ‘Salesians in the Himalayas’ to the students.

The Science and the Humanities Departments witnessed their respective programs of Day 1 from 9.45 in the morning with introductory words by Vice Principal Fr. Dr. CJ George. Science departments consisting of the Department of Computer Science and Application (CSA), the Department of Mathematics and the Department of Physics, conducted their rapport building program together, where faculties from these departments interacted and introduced themselves. The Humanities Departments, viz; Geography and Mass Communication collectively carried out the program while the department of Psychology and Political Science were clubbed together. In another group, departments of Sociology, History, BA (General) and Education merged together. Fr. Dr. C.J. George and Fr. Aju Kurian interacted with the newcomers and encouraged them to maintain a harmonious relationship with others and prepare themselves for a better future.

On the first day, the faculty members interacted with the new students and discussed about the college, its history, future plans, guidelines, and about respective department and the administrative protocols. The next day started with “Prayer Session” at the Don Bosco Shrine. This was followed by departmental orientation session where individual faculty member discussed the course and the syllabus with the students. This program made every students feel recognized, wanted and accepted.

The day ended with a happy note for the coming week wherein classes were to begin. This rapport building event enabled the Salesian family of students and faculty members to lay the roadmap for the three years of academic journey.
